

Fields Land Rover Northfield

Northfield, Illinois

CLIENT	Fields Auto Group
ARCHITECT	JRB Group Architects
ROLE	Construction Manager

The project scope of the Fields Auto Group's Land Rover Dealership in Northfield, Illinois consisted of the conversion of an existing dealership and work included a new façade as well as demolition of the existing showroom and offices.

The existing façade was completely removed and the new consists of metal panels and cultured stone. Within the store, ICI installed elements consistent with Land Rover branding: decorative timber trusses and a wood ceiling. New interior ceilings, soffits and floor and wall finishes will be replaced throughout the store. New first floor offices are also part of the project scope.

Site work for the project included the installation of a new Land Rover test track as well as new lighting throughout the site.
