

Field Museum Grainger Science Hub Chicago, Illinois

CLIENT The Field Museum
ROLE General Contractor

ICI was hired by the Field Museum to create the Grainger Science Hub; a 1,000 square foot space on the museum's first floor showcasing cutting edge discoveries and items from collections that otherwise hadn't made it into the museum's displays. The space features a video screen and a camera to allow for conversations with Field scholars out doing research in the world, and an overhead cam (similar to those used for a cooking show) to showcase what somebody is working on at the counter below.
